

LILOU LI XIA (CHN, 1991)

Lilou Li Xia, also known as Lilou Oh Yeah, born in 1991 in Chongqing, China, lives and works in Rouen, France. She works mainly in oil and watercolor, as well as mixed media sculptures.

Her work explores the ephemeral moments and banal objects of everyday life, expressed through carefully composed planes of colors and simplified lines. The artist creates figurative and imaginary spaces inspired by everyday life or fleeting moments.

By cinematographically framing these details, her work invites the viewer to delve into vignettes that capture the tension of overlooked everyday moments. Precise and sensual, these meticulously constructed scenes are infused with tranquility and surreal humor. Although her narrative has no defined plot, Lilou's work suggests that something has just happened. Her works do not merely record events, but capture feelings and emotions that lie deep within our consciousness.
